Maybe I'll come back to life soon - there have been so many changes lately, that I'm sure I won't be able to catch up - there will be news of renovations coming to this house, with a new bathroom, kitchen and laundry on the way, and the next chapter in our lives in the making. I'm going to come back to some regular posting on my blog, so we'll see what happens in the meanwhile. I'm sure I won't be blogging any more every day, but I will come back to some of my old favourites. As you know, I have a passion for old-fashioned jewelry, antique furniture, and collectibles. This house was filled with treasures from my past, such as large antique chairs, dressers, and tables. My bed was a hand-me-down from my Mother's house when I

Whether you're a first-time buyer, a young professional or retired, we can help you with your financial goals, providing unrivaled access to institutional-quality money. This unique form of investor money can help you with any financial need. Instant Cash Offers Investors Anyone can invest, but it takes a special kind of investor to be able to buy and hold a long-term investment like real estate. Each investment has its own benefits and drawbacks. If you want a "proven" vehicle to help you manage your money, or are looking for a "safe" investment for a rainy day, institutional money may be the way to go. However, if you want to make your money work for you (and put it to work, not just sit on it), then you'll want to consider buying and holding properties and creating money with a REIT.

5 Ways Institutional Money Can Help You

1. You Have More Time Investing through an institutional money manager such as CANVASS allows you to wait for the best properties to come on the market. You can buy at a discount and avoid paying the "bid" price that unscrupulous sellers are willing to pay. With institutional money, you don't have to play the market to get the best return on your investment.
2. You Have More Transparency When you buy through a REIT or with institutional money, you're investing with a professional money manager who has a track record of picking the best property values for investors. Additionally, you're investing with cash (so you don't have to worry about how the market is performing at any given time), and the cash is invested in the highest-quality property, giving you the best return.
3. You Have the Chance to Learn When you're buying a property directly, you're making the decision without an expert standing at your side. Instead, institutional money allows you to build a professional relationship with a professional manager who has the tools and resources to help you out
